Mrs. Alice Hovey Is Granted Dicorce—Vollie Korell, H. E. Nigh File Motions For New Trial.

The case of the Barnard State Bank against Wiley Lankford and others was on trial today in Circuit Court. The suit involves two apparently conflicting mortgages and the bank asks a judgment of $1,050 against Lankford and his co-defendants for 1,500 bushels of corn which the bank alleges they took wrongfully.

Late this afternoon the case had not gone to the jury. The trial was delayed by a recess taken by the court during the address of Senator George H. Williams.

The case was tried before a jury composed of M. I. Rose, C. A. Gates, Roy Bridgewater, W. R. Cogdill, John Brand, Vern Hensen, Alva Heflin, F. C. Wyman, Fred Ager, J. Ed Costello, Walter Coleman and M. L. Griggs.

FLAYS HAWES FARM RECORD

DEMOCRAT "INSINCERE", WILLIAMS CHARGES.

FOR ADEQUATE AID

Republican Senatorial Candidate Discusses Agricultural And Other Issues In Address This Afternoon.

Characterizing Harry B. Hawes' record on farm legislation as "meaningless" and "inconsistent," Senator George H. Williams, Republican candidate for United States Senator from Missouri, pledged anew his support for "adequate farm legislation" in his address before a large audience in the Missouri Theater this afternoon.

Senator Williams charged that Hawes is bidding for the "political support of Bill Hirth" and that his world court stand was a "bid for the political support of Senator Reed."

"On neither of these issues is there any plea for support for him based on principle," Senator Williams said.

E. C. Curfman, chairman of the Nodaway County Republican committee, presided at the meeting this afternoon. Mr. Curfman presented Fred Wolfers who introduced Senator Williams.

Mr. Wolfers gave a brief biography of Senator Williams and told of some of his accomplishments before being appointed Senator, especially his experience in juvenile court work while Circuit Judge at St. Louis.

Following his address here, Senator Williams will be taken to Tarkio where he will speak tonight.

The Republican Senatorial candidate went into great detail in discussing Mr. Hawes' record on farm legislation while a member of Congress. Williams declared that Hawes, in 1924, voted against the McNary-Haugen bill and in 1926 voted for it.

"Mr. Hawes did not vote against this bill, however, because he was in favor of a reduction of the tariff, because the bill which he voted for in 1926 is a protective tariff measure," Senator Williams continued.

"But this is not the only instance of the inconsistency of Mr. Hawes in voting against measures in Congress which affected agriculture. He voted against the Johnson immigration bill when we had over five million men out of employment in the United States and foreigners from southern Europe were rushing into our country to procure employment in competition with our idle men. In 1921 when the farmers were sorely in need of credit and it was proposed to permit the farm loan bank to increase the rate of interest at which it was selling its securities for the purpose of raising money to extend credit to the farmers and a bill was introduced in Congress for the purpose of raising the interest rate on the farm land bank securieies from 5 per cent to 5½ per cent and the bill came on for a vote Mr. Hawes voted against it.

Voted Against Tariff.

"At the close of the World War when millions of pounds of wool and mutton which had been stored in Australia and New Zealand were rushed into the United States for sale in competition with our own mutton and wool and a bill was introduced into the Congress for an emergency tariff act to keep those products out of the country Mr. Hawes voted against it."

The Senator then discussed the McNary bill which provides for the use of all government agencies in aid of co-operative marketing. This bill was signed by President Coolidge on July 2 of this year, he said, and was passed in the closing days of the present Congress and was supported as an administration measure by both Democrats and Republicans.

"In the Democratic state platform, it is suggested that the Democrats are willing to assist in utilizing the aid of the government in co-operative marketing. This declaration of the Democratic party is meaningless and contains no statement or promise upon which the farmers of Missouri can look with confidence or hope. This declaration in the Democratic platform is meaningless because of the existence of the McNary law, which provides for governmental aid to co-operatives."

Discusses G. O. P. Plan.

Senator Williams then discussed the Republican platform on farm relief.

"The Republicans declared in their

Evangelist's Condition Is Greatly Improved

Aimee Semple McPherson, However, Had To Be Carried Into Court room—Suffering From Infection.

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 20.—Aimee Semple McPherson, greatly improved in condition, went into court today with her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, to hear the witnesses testifying for her at her preliminary hearing.

Despite the improvement in her condition, however, the evangelist still was crippled too seriously by the infection in her left leg to walk into Judge Blake's court. Hoisted on a large chair high above the heads of the crowds waiting to see her, Mrs. McPherson was carried to the hearing by four men.

The evangelist, on the verge of a collapse, halted the hearing yesterday by informing the judge she was too ill to remain longer in the session. Earlier in the day, the infection had been lanced.

Mrs. McPherson is suffering from the effects of an abscess which is reported to have ben caused by a pin or a tack in her chair in the courtroom.

MEETING TO BE HELD AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

Speakers Will Explain Proposals At Banquet Tomorrow Night—Under Auspices of Associated Industries.

The workmen's compensation law will be discussed by representatives of the Associated Industries of Missouri at a banquet to be held in the dining room of the First M. E. Church at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

The speakers will explain Proposition No. 1, which is the law passed at the last session of the Missouri Legislature, and held up by referendum. This law is indorsed by the Associated Industries and is said to be the most just compensation measure possible.

Proposition No. 3, to be submitted to the voters at the election November 2, is another workmen's compensation proposal which was framed by the opponents of the act passed by the legislature. This was put on the ballot by use of the initiative.

The Associated Industries are conducting a campaign throughout the state to have the voters vote "Yes" on No. 1, and vote "No" on No. 3.

Representatives from all sections of the county have been invited to the banquet tomorrow night. The dinner will be served by the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. Church, under the leadership of Mrs. Warren Jones. W. W. Stiwalt is chairman of the committee which is sponsoring the banquet and meeting.

FUND INQUIRY INTO INDIANA

FRAUGHT WITH SIGNIFICANCE TO MAJOR PARTIES.

WALL STREET IN TOO

But Reed Will Determine If There Is Sound Basis For Corruption Charges In Hoosier State.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Swinging a two-bladed inquisitorial sword, Senator James A. Reed today carried his campaign fund inquiry deeper into the Illinois Senatorial campaign while preparing to turn the federal spotlight on the Indiana political muddle.

The Indiana controversy in which both major parties, the Ku Klux Klan and mysterious "Wall street interests" have become involved, has the center of the stage today and its untimate development may have tremendous effects on national politics. If the preliminary inquiry indicates that political corruption in the Hoosier state has touched the Senatorial campaign, Senator Reed will "tear the lid off" Indiana's politics and no man safely can predict the outcome.

The Missouri Senator first will determine whether there is any sound basis for the charges and counter-charges that have been hurled back and forth by the friends and foes of the Indiana Klan. If any faction can make out a prima facie case justifying federal intervention, it is apparent Senator Reed stands ready to go to the bottom of the charges. On the other hand, if the charges are shown to be based on hearsay, Senator Reed undoubtedly will turn his back on the Hoosier state.

The Indiana situation, nevertheless, is fraught with grave political significance for both major parties.

Wild West Hold-up Is Staged at Sugar Creek

Five Bandits Get Loot Estimated At $10,000 And Escape—Vice-President Slugged With Revolver.

Kansas City, Oct. 20.—An old-fashioned wild West bank robbery, enlivened with scenes which rivaled those of early-day outlawry, was staged today at the State Bank at Sugar Creek, a suburb, ten miles from this city, by five bandits who escaped with loot estimated at $10,000 in cash.

G. R. Buckley, vice-president of the bank, was slugged on the head with the butt of a revolver. Several customers were lined against the wall, their hands high in the air, as one of the bandits covered them.

Undaunted, Buckley exchanged a number of shots with the five men, who seized the money and escaped in a motor car.

LITTLE NEED TO MANIFESTO

TARIFF REQUEST CREATES BUT SLIGHT INTEREST.

"WALL" WILL REMAIN

President Coolidge Feels That Lower Rates Would Effect Standard Of Living In America.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The widely hearlded manifesto issued by the world's leading international bankers demanding the elimination of the tariff barriers as an aid to economic rehabilitation created hardly a ripple in Washington today.

Europe is excited about it but so far as the American government is concerned, there is but little interest.

President Coolidge feels, it was stated at the White House, that the manifesto is aimed principally at European tariff barriers and if Europe wants to reform itself in this particular, that is Europe's business and none of America's.

As for America's tariff policy, there can and will be no change in that. The President believes that a good part of the present era of business prosperity can be attributed to the existing tariff laws and no change can be made in that law without inviting a lower standard of living for American wage earners.

Efforts made in Europe to have it appear that the manifesto has been indorsed by officials of this government were disputed today. In making public the manifesto, its sponsors intimated that it had been submitted to Secretary of Treasury Mellon in Europe this summer and that Mr. Mellon, in turn, had rendered a favorable report on it to the President.

MAY BE IN K. C. ON NOV. 11

QUEEN MARIE MAY AID DEDICATION OF MEMORIAL.

PLANS NOT DEFINITE

Kansas City, Oct. 20.—Word that Queen Marie will arrive in Kansas City on Armistice Day, November 11, and may take an official part with President Coolidge in the Liberty memorial dedication was received indirectly today by John T. Harding, chairman of the speakers committee of the dedication organization.

No direct word has been received from the Queen announcing her intention to be here for the dedication. The advance of eight days in the proposed royal visit is believed to have been due to the cancellation of Queen Marie's California tour which followed the refusal of western railroads to grant her a $1 fare for herself and her company.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Thirty-nine hours as the official guest of the American government behind her, Queen Marie of Rumania left Washington today to explore the United States as a private but exceedingly distinguished tourist.

The first stop outside the national capital for this unusual visitor of royalty was at Annapolis, Md., site of the United States naval academy. From there, after a brief stop for inspection of the school, Queen Marie went to Baltimore for lunch and a public reception. From the latter point, she will entrain for New York to rest until the start Thursday of her trans-continental tour.

With her departure from Washington, Queen Marie lost her status as a guest of the government and became a tourist enjoying extraordinary privileges. From now on, her tour is in the hands of railroads, the reception committees of the cities she will visit and a staff of secret service agents furnished by the state department.

Her Majesty, however, will tour as a queen. Asked about the future of her journey through America, she replied:

"I shall travel as a queen. I am a queen and I can picture myself as nothing else."

Havanna, Oct. 20.—A hurricane, with a velocity of 150 miles an hour, is sweeping Cuba. The hurricane was in full force at 7:30 o'clock this morning. All transportation has been stopped.

Considerable property damage has been done but it is impossible to estimate it at this time.

Women Scrap for Seat in a Chair

New York, Oct. 20.—The chair that a queen sat in was rushed by women visitors after Marie of Roumania had left the city hall the other day and a score occupied the chair in turn until police cleared the council chamber.

"THE AUCTIONEER."

Mrs. Williams Prefers Cooking to Politics; Senator's Palate Fickle

Mrs. George H. Williams, who accompanied her husband, the senator, to Maryville today for her initial visit here says she isn't much of a politician.

"I love to cook and do the domestic things," Mrs. Williams declared this morning. "Of course I always try to do my very best for my country and my party," she added.

"You know, I take great pains to prepare something special for Mr. Williams to eat and I'll watch all through the meal and he won't say a word about it. At the close of the meal I'll have to ask if he liked the special dish. Oh yes, it's all right, that's all the satisfaction that I get for all my work, of course he means to be appreciative," she said defensively. "He is just different from other men, he doesn't care a thing about eating."

Speaking of politics she said: "I think it's the duty of the women of this country to accept their political duties very conscientiously. Women have just as much right to hold office as the men. I have taken no active part in politics. In a small way I have tried to do a little," Mrs. Williams said, "but I have tried to keep away from publicity."

And then Mrs. Williams talked of Mrs. Coolidge. That was one of the few subjects she really cared to speak of. "She is the most perfect First Lady. A wonderful woman, thoroughly worth while," the senator's wife declared.

And of the election she said, "Of course our friends try to say that Mr. Williams will be re-elected and of course the friends of our opponent will tell him the same thing, but nobody knows about elections. The only way to tell who wins an election is to count the votes," she added.

Mrs. Williams enjoyed breakfast with Miss Mary Gram, this morning. Miss Gram was the senator's secretary in Washington. Mrs. Williams wore a straight black satin frock, with a small black hat, a beautiful fur "choker." Her hose were grey and were worn with black patent leather one strap slippers. She was kind and very thoughtful to those who served her at the hotel.

She spent a most enjoyable day with old friends. "Really," she said, "I could hardly wait to see Maryville and the persons I know here. I always have heard so much about the town, I think it's a fine little city and as fine as all the wonderful reports I have heard regarding it."

Mrs. Williams also appreciated the things that citizens of Maryville have planned for her pleasure during the day.

She left Washington in May, in order that she might attend the graduation exercises at Washington University, St. Louis, this year, when her son, Howard Williams, was graduated from law school there. Since then she has been at home. There is another son, Stewart, who is in business in St. Louis.

The visitor spent the morning driving over Maryville, with friends.

platform," he said, "that the problem of agriculture is a national problem and it pledged its representatives in Congress to support such laws as would place the farming interests on a basis of economic equality with other industries. It declared in favor of the protective tariff for farm products. It declared that it is economically sound and practically feasible to apply the principle of protection upon these farm products in which there is an exportable surplus."

The speaker then turned his attention to the question of the world court and compared his record with that of Mr. Hawes.

"In 1920 and again in 1924 the Democratic party in its national conventions put forth its platforms in favor of the League of Nations. In 1920 the Democratic party declared that the time had arrived for America to break away from its traditions. In 1924 the Democratic party said that democracy could not be at rest until we entered the League of Nations. In 1920 the Democratic party in the state of Missouri adopted a platform in favor of the League of Nations and it repeated that pronouncement in 1924 when it said that there could be no substitute for the League of Nations. In 1920 the Democratic party of Missouri at Joplin would not permit Senator Reed to go to the San Francisco convention as a delegate from this state and he was barred from entering the San Francisco convention even as a delegate from the Fifth Congressional district. His opposition to the League of Nations made him an outlaw of the Democratic party in the state of Missouri.

"In 1926 on September 14, the Republican party in Missouri declared that the Republicans of Missouri are opposed to the League of Nations and are opposed to the world court, which is the judicial department of the government of the League of Nations.

"Democrats Oppose Court."

"On September 14, 1926, the Democratic party of Missouri declared that it was opposed to the present entry of the United States into the World Court under the Coolidge resolutions.

"The declaration of the Republican party is clear and definite and there is no mistake as to what it means. The declaration of the Democratic party contains no statement of opposition to the world court either as a matter of principle or as a matter of oplicy but simply recites that the Democratic party is opposed to the present entry into the court.

"In March, 1925, Mr. Hawes, the Democratic nominee for United States Senator, voted for resolutions in the House of Representatives in favor of the World Court. The resolutions he voted for were the Coolidge resolutions. He voted for those resolutions because the House of Representatives claimed it was the right and duty of the House of Representatives to vote on that question. In 1926 after the Senate of the United States had authorized the President to take the United States into the world court, Mr. Hawes wrote a letter to prominent Democrats in Missouri in which he said he would not be disloyal to the Democrats in the United States Senate and in the House of Representatives who had voted in favor of our entrance into the World Court. He said that the only two Democrats in the United States Senate who had voted against the Court were Jim Reed of Missouri and Cole Blease of South Carolina.

Says Hawes Indefinite.

"It is a matter of record that thirty-six Democrats out of the thirty-eight Democrats of the United States Senate had voted in favor of our entrance into the world court. There were 149 Democrats in the House of Representatives who voted in favor of the world court. Mr. Hawes said he would not be disloyal to those men. Mr. Hawes has never said that he was opposed to the entrance of the United States into the world court as a matter of international policy or of international principle. The Democratic platform adopted at Jefferson City in September, 1926, makes no declaration of principle on this subject.

"The question as to whether the United States should enter the world court is a pending issue before the people of the United States today. My attitude and the attitude of the Republican party in this state is definite on the subject. Mr. Hawes was a party to the preparation of his platform at Jefferson City. That platform is without principle and contains no statement on which the people of Missouri have a right to reply as to Mr. Hawes' future course on this subject.

"Seeks Compromise."

"The trouble with Mr. Hawes was that he had the Wilson Democrats on the one hand and Senator Reed and his followers on the other and he tried to compromise with them, with the result that the declaration in the Democratic platform is an insult to the intelligence of the people of our state.

"It is now generally conceded that the world court is as much a part of the government of the League of Nations as the Supreme Court of the United States is a part of the government of the United States. The report in the House of Representatives which Mr. Hawes voted in favor of so states."

Train Hits Plane, First Time Known

Bromberg, Poland.—What is believed to be the first collision between a speeding train and an aeroplane occurred here accompanied by screams of wild excitement among the passengers. A test-airplane, belonging to the military aviation school, incurred a motor defect and was forced to land on the railroad tracks. Just as the 'plane was alighting, the Cracow-Danzing express roared into view and crashed into the aeroplane, which crumbled up like a matchbox. The pilot miraculously escaped with a bad scare.

Navy Day Set For October 27

Governor Baker Asks Missourians To Observe That Day—Is Roosevelt's Birthday Also.

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 20.—Governor Baker issued the following statement calling upon the people of Missouri to observe Naval Day, Oct. 27:

"It has become the custom to observe Oct. 27 as Naval Day throughout the United States. This day also happens to be the birthday of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, one of the ablest proponents and staunch friends of a reasonable defense for the United States.

"It is well that the people of the United States, living under high pressure, should pause once in a while to give thought to that portion of our defensive forces, which have always conducted themselves so as to reflect credit upon the country they represent. It is largely due to the men of the navy that the American Merchant Marine has developed to what it is today. The devotion to duty, not only of the officers and men of the American navy, but also of our merchant marine, is one that every American can be proud of. In order that this day may be fittingly observed I suggest that all state and municipal buildings fly the national and state colors on Oct. 27."

The VANITY CASE

NEA FICTION

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

MRS. PRENTISS sees lights mysteriously appear and disappear in the HEATH household next door one night and the next day Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog with the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of her husband, PERRY.

House guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN, heir to Myra's fortune, and BUNNY MOORE, vivacious, golden-haired, to whom suspicion points because of her refusal to answer questions.

Myra Heath was peculiar: She never used cosmetics, never wore colors. She had a mania for collecting glass, and it was a rare old whisky bottle from her collection that the murderer used to kill her. Candles were burning at her head and feet and nearby was a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath." Strangest of all, she was heavily made up and garbed in gay colors.

The peculiar thing about Heath's disappearance is that all the windows and doors had been locked on the inside the night before and were found that way in the morning. Finger prints of Bunny Moore and Inman were found on the bottle.

At the Country Club the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the crime, and others. Some believe Heath the murderer. Anderson disagrees. TODHUNTER BUCK, nephew of Mrs. Prentiss and in love with Bunny, suggests to Cunningham that Heath also may have been murdered.

EMMA, a waitress in the Heath home, tells of Seeing Bunny ascend the stairs about the time of the murder, carrying her vanity case. Later Bunny is amazed to get a phone call from Perry Heath telling her Inman is guilty. Bunny breaks down and faints under a grilling by DETECTIVE MOTT, who makes up his mind that she is guilty. Inman confides to Buck that he saw Bunny creeping the stairs after the murder, and Mott, questions all the servants and tells them to keep silent.

Cunningham gets a note from Anderson and goes to his house where Perry Heath suddenly appears out of the night and begins to talk.

Anderson invites Cunningham to his house and there, while waiting for his host, Cunningham is suddenly confronted by Perry Heath, who disappears as mysteriously as he had appeared. Shortly afterward, Anderson comes in, and he reproahes Cunningham for letting Heath get away.

Todhunter Buck, puzzling as to the best way to clear Bunny, is sitting in the dark when Bunny slips out of the house of his aunt, where she is now a guest, and meets Perry Heath at the edge of a wood. Buck trails Heath but the latter escapes. In despair, Buck sends for his friend, STEVE TRUITT, famous detective.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLI.

He smiled—people usually smiled at sight of Bunny.

"Sleep if you like," he said, and his voice was gentle, "I'll take this watch."

"If you were smaller, I should take you to be Mr. Truitt," she said, meditatively, for even sitting down it was plain to be seen that the stranger was a very long person.

"I am Truitt," he said; "it is Buck's favorite jest to tell folks I'm a dwarf or pigmy, and then he thinks it funny when they are surprised. You see," he said, rising, "I outgrew myself as a boy, and never got over it."

He was unusually tall, several inches over six feet, but he carried himself well and with no trace of awkwardness or self-consciousness.

"What is the girl like to whom you are engaged?" asked Bunny, letting her eyes travel up to the very top of this Eiffel Tower of humanity.

"I'm not engaged. That's another, I daresay, of Todd's tarradiddles. I suppose he's afraid you'll flirt with me. Do, won't you?"

"Probably. I usually do. But, Mr. Truitt, sit down here by be. I'm glad to talk with you alone a moment. You're here to look into the Heath case, aren't you?"

"Yes, I am a detective, as well as a friend of Buck's. I want to do all I can for him."

"Of course you do. I'm Bunny Moore, a friend of the Heaths. I was in the house at the time, visiting and I am suspected of being the murderer."

There was no trace of a smile on Bunny's face. Her eyes looked earnestly into those of Truitt, and he saw that she had serious knowledge of the matter, whatever it might be.

"It seems incredible," he said, not perfunctorily, but with a seriousness that equaled her own. "Will you tell me a few details, or shall I wait until Tod comes home?"

"I will talk to you until they come. You don't look like a detective, Mr. Truitt."

"I did, until I changed all that. The first duty of a detective is not to look like one. I was helped by my height, of course. No conventional detective was ever as tall as I am. Then I cultivated a habit of looking like the person I am talking to. See, I now wear a smile like yours."

His face irradiated into a smile that was like, though in no way a mockery of Bunny's own; so much so, that she stared and gasped.

"It's a knack," he said, quietly. "And it gives me the advantage of a versatility of countenance."

"My good Heavens!" she exclaimed, "I never saw anybody like you!"

"Probably not. Now, talk, if you're going to. There's only one way for a detective to learn anything and that's for him to make other people talk to him."

"I thought you used clues and evidence and all that."

"Material clues are all very well, if they're real ones and vital to the case. Evidence is helpful, of course. But the real stuff is what is poured out by the human tongue. Give me a lot of babbling people and I'll solve your case."

"How much ought I tell you?"

"Every bit of a thing you know. I am very much in earnest when I work, Miss Moore, and I cannot always impress on people the desirability of telling all. All. Now, never mind about the general facts, the principal points, or the outstanding details. Tell me what you know that no one else knows. What you saw, that no one else knows you saw. What you heard that others didn't hear. What you surmise, that others don't even suspect. Those are the things that will help me to solve the mystery. You want it solved, don't you?"

"Yes, I do now. This morning, I wasn't sure. But sitting here, and thinking about my friend, whom I loved, and seeing her funeral going on, yes, I do want her murderer discovered—whoever he is."

"You didn't kill her?"

"Do you know who did?"

"I am not sure. As you will learn as soon as you learn everything about the case—"

"Oh, I know the main facts—"

"Then you know there are three principal suspects, Mr. Heath, Mr. Inman and myself. Each of us had motive and opportunity—I've learned that line from the detectives—but my motive was not a strong one, and—I didn't make use of my opportunity."

"It was one of the men then?"

"It was one of the men."

"Which one—do you thing?"

"I don't know," she fidgeted a little, and her cheeks glowed pinker, but she went on; "think of it yourself. A man and wife and another man. The other man and the wife are desperately in love with one another. Which man is more likely to kill the woman?"

"The husband, of course."

"But the other man is the woman's heir. He is insatiate in his greed for money. He has about given up hope of winning the woman for his own. But if she dies, he will have her fortune. Now, which one?"

"You make it very interesting. Now, what do you know?"

"Only this. I went downstairs, late that night. I found Mrs. Heath dead, in the studio, with candles burning at her head and feet. I touched her, and her flesh was still warm—"

At this point Bunny's bravery gave way. She faltered, hesitated, and became suddenly silent.

Understanding, Truitt said no word, but looked at her with a glance of mingled compassion and encouragement.

And just at that time, there was a commotion next door, and they saw the casket of Myra Heath carried out from the house she had loved so well.

The sight restored Bunny's courage, reignited her fire of indignation and caused her to resume her story.

"They will be coming home soon," she said nervously, "and I want to tell you what I know, Mr. Truitt, because—because you have made me feel it is my duty."

"Tell me only as much or as little as you think best. Do not be carried away by emotion at the sight of that casket. But if you will tell me the truth, I'm sure you will not regret it."

"No. Well, as I came upstairs, I saw Mr. Inman peeping through the crack of his door. He must have heard me on the stairs, and opened it the tiniest mite."

"Yes."

"I was so upset I didn't know what I was doing, but I went blindly on to my own room, and threw myself on the bed."

"Why didn't you raise an alarm?"

"Mr. Truitt, you will think this strange. But I was afraid. I feel years older now, though that was but a few days ago, but at that moment, I felt I just couldn't do anything at all. I vaguely reasoned that if there was any alarming to do, there were people in that house better fitted to look after it than I. That I, as the youngest and least experienced of the household had no call to take any initiative—oh, I know this sounds foolish, but it's the truth. I've never done anything for myself, never had any responsibility of any sort, and I couldn't make myself do anything. I see now, it was cowardly and—"

"No, Miss Moore, it was natural. You were stunned, and, moreover, you had reason to believe that Mr. Inman knew something of the matter, or he would not be spying on you. You had reason to think Mr. Heath was in the house—hadn't you?"

"I don't know. I didn't think about Perry—about anybody but Myra. I cried and cried until I fell into a sort of sleep. But I kept starting up and listening every few minutes. And not another sound did I hear in that house all night long. Toward daylight, I began to wonder, if it hadn't been a dream. I got up and undressed and went to bed properly, but I waited almost breathlessly for what the morning might bring. So, when Carter came to tell me the news, I was sitting up in bed, crying."

"You were afraied to say anything, because you feared—still fear—that Perry Heath was the criminal and you love him."

"I did love him then," said Bunny, simply; "I don't, now."

Not a Squeak Heard at Big Radio Show

Exhibit In St. Louis Is Quiet One—Many New Outfits Have Been Put On Display.

St. Louis, Oct. 20.—A "silent" radio show is in progress this week at St. Louis. Hundreds of radio sets, small and large, plain and fancy, are on exhibition at the South-West Radio Show in the Coliseum, but not a single one has emitted a squeal since the start of the show.

Managers of the exhibition said that in previous shows, no rules were laid down concerning operation and demonstration of sets. The racket from hundreds of loudspeakers, consequently was so loud that visitors—and salesmen—could not hear themselves think.

So this year all is quiet along the rows of radios—radios which appear to be pieces of fine furniture rather than receiving sets.

Few new circuits are on display. Developmental work during the past year seems to have been concentrated on simplification. Thus, most of the sets costing more than $200 are operated with one dial, use no batteries and no visible aerial. They are encased in elaborate cabinets for the most part. The sets look like expensive phonographs and—if the salesmen are to be believed—operate easier.

Loudspeaker manufacturers seem to have taken delight in disguising their products. The horns of last year have been superseded by speakers which resemble liberty bells, logs, clocks and even Bibles.

Burlington Junction

J. Howard Thompson, Correspondent.

Miss May Kendig, of Naperville, Ill., has been in the community for some days, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barr and Miss Marie Faust. She is an intimate friend of both families.

Miss Anna Walker was in Maryville a few days last week, the guest of Judge and Mrs. J. F. Robinson. She returned home Saturday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Carmichael and family are entertaining Mr. Carmichael's brother, N. L. Carmichael, his mother, Mrs. J. R. Carmichael, and his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Lambley, all of Conway, Ia., for a visit of a few days. They report things prospering in the Iowa Community.

Ernest Sharr, of Pickering, is a guest of Homer Carmichael for a week-end visit. The two men are cousins.

The annual chicken pie supper given by the women of the Christian Church was well attended, not only by the people of town, but by many out-of-town folks. The dinner was well served and in large measure.

Harry Wilson and family of St. Joseph were over Sunday visitors in Burlington Junction. Harry formerly lived in this community and has many friends who are always glad to see him.

The Rev. J. G. Snook, who was assigned at the last session of the annual conference of the Methodist Church, as pastor in Graham, Mo., did not accept his work, but went to Brashear, in the eastern part of the State, instead. This will be regretted by the Graham people, as Mr. Shook is rated as a good preacher.

The funeral of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gohn's baby, Monday afternoon, was very largely attended, many being present from out of town. The little fellow was a great sufferer for the entire time of his sickness.

The Misses Etta and Georgia Ellen Trusty were over Sunday visitors at their home. The young women are students at the State Teachers' College at Maryville.

Mr. and Mrs. Delta Arnold entertained the Rev. and Mrs. J. Howard Thompson and Mrs. Gerald Boyer and her two daughters, Irene and Audry, Monday evening. Mrs. Arnold served cookies and chocolate.

Mrs. Joan Drew of Great Bend, Kan., is in town, the guest of Miss Iuka Shields. She will remain about a week, before returning to her home.

The warm sun and wind of the past few days have dried the mud sufficiently that the roads are passable in a way. Number 13, west of town, has improved to such a degree that cars are going over it, the first time in four weeks. The roads are very rough, but, with the grader and road drag, will soon be in fine shape again.

Mrs. Jacob King of Minneapolis, Minn., is a guest of Mrs. Cynthia Dragoo and other friends in the community. Mrs. King said to the writer that she very greatly enjoyed reading the Burlington Junction items twice a week in the Democrat-Forum.

Mrs. Bryan Bruce and little daughter, Mary Catherine, of Phoenix, Ariz., after a visit of about four weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Miller, returned to their home Sunday night. Mrs. Bruce is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

Mrs. Eva Graves returned Friday from a five weeks visit in Kansas City and Hale, Mo. She reports having had a fine time among her friends, but was very glad to get back home again and get settled for the winter.

Miss Rachel Westfall visited her family, two miles southwest of town, over Sunday and attended church Sunday morning. Miss Westfall is attending school at the State Teachers College in Maryville. She returned to her school work, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Lon Monk returned Friday night from a four weeks' visit with her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Fowler and family, in Guymon, Okla. Her daughter, with the baby of a few months, accompanied her home for a few weeks' visit.

A goodly number of people went from here Sunday morning to hear Bishop McMurry at the South Methodist Church in Maryville, where he had come to preach the dedicatory sermon for the pipe organ recently installed.

Burlington Junction seems to have recently become infested with an unprecedented number of stray dogs. At any rate no one seems to want to claim them. They make the night hideous with their barking and howling. Some measures ought to be resorted to by which they can be gotten rid of.

The services at both church in town were very largely attended last Sunday, not only in the Sunday schools, but in the public services as well. The day was warm and beautiful, and the people came with a spirit of real worship.

Paschal Monk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Monk, who is a student at the State Teachers College in Maryville, came home Saturday night for an over-Sunday visit with home folks. He returned to his school duties Sunday night.

Great intereste is being manifested in the annual bazaar to be given on Saturday, November 20, by the Industrial Society of the Methodist Church. The various booth departments are working hard to make their particular booth show up the best. Dinner and supper is to be served to the general public, in connection with the Bazaar.

Miss Evelyn Thatcher, who is attending school in Maryville, was a week end visitor with home folks here in town. She returned to Maryville Sunday afternoon. Miss Thacker was graduated from the Burlington Junction high school last year.

Edwin Caldwell, who has been sick for some time at his farm seven miles southwest of town, went to Kansas City last Saturday for special treatment, and if need be enter a hospital, with the hope of finding relief.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Nicholas, jr., living two miles south of town, were host and hostess to the Rev. and Mrs. J. Howard Thompson Tuesday at a well prepar'ed chicken dinner. On their return home, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson brought with them a dozen of those fine culled Rhode Island hens of Mrs. Nicholas'.

The W. H. M. S. of the Methodist Church was entertained Tuesday afternoon at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caldwell, one mile northeast of town. There were thirty members and visitors present at the meeting. Mrs. Jess Jones is the president of the society and conducted the devotions, reading the Scripture lesson from the 121st Psalm, and giving comments upon it. After the devotions, Miss Grace Wood took charge of the lesson, which was upon the various phases of rural life. A contrast was drawn between conditions of yesterday and today, and the telephone, automobile, and radio were especially spoken of as steps forward. At the close of the lesson, refreshments were served consisting of chicken salad, cheesed crackers and coffee. A social followed.

The patrons of the Pleasant Valley school district, two miles southwest of town held a community meeting Tuesday night, when about a hundred persons were present. The program consisted of singing and recitations by the pupils of the school, a very laughable entertainment, entitled "Courting Under Difficulties" by Ruby and Eva Neff and Genevieve Westfall, a reading by Albert Bartlett, of Burlington Junction, and an address by the Rev. J. Howard Thompson on Proposition No. 4, supplemented by a story of animal life in Yellowstone Park for the children and a solo by Mrs. Hubert Corken. After the program, refreshments consisting of sandwiches, pumpkin pie and chocolate were served. Mrs. Urban of Maryville is the teacher, and is now in her second year.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—The Chicago Board of Trade did not follow the spectacular advances of Liverpool today. As a result most early grains were wiped out before the close. Wheat had a strong opening. Export business was quiet. Futures closed unchanged to ⅛ up and no cash sales were reported.

Corn got off to a strong start but weakened with wheat. The close was ¼ to ⅜ lower than yesterday. Receipts were rather large causing cash values to drop 1 to 2 cents.

Oats was again a dull affair. The close was 1.2 lower than yesterday. There was no change in price around the cash tables.

Provisions closed lower.

These pigs are of a wonderful type; lots of stretch and size, by our two herd boars, Great Western and Starlight.
Great Western is a very large boar, has proved an excellent breeder on large litters. He is a line bred Disher Giant Clansman boar, blood that is proving its value in the show ring and breeding pen every day. Great Western is at the head of our herd and can be seen sale day. Atta Boy, his sire, was grand champion boar and won several other ribbons. His dam, Black Lill 3rd, was also grand champion sow.
Starlight is a nice yearling boar, very deep and broad, has the very best of feet and legs. A real farmers' boar. His sire, Hy Lad, was World's Reserve grand champion in 1925; Nebraska's grand champion as a spring yearling. The get of Hy Lad won more ribbons in the junior pig class at the 1926 Nebraska State Fair than were won by the get of any other boar. Starlight's dam is by Hiland Lad, 1924 Nebraska's grand champion. We are selling several extra good Starlight pigs.

SCHEDULE FOR THE WEEK

Friday

Missouri Valley of Marshall vs. Central Wesleyan at Warrenton.

Kirksville vs. Cape Girardeau at Cape Girardeau.

Missouri Wesleyan of Cameron vs. Central at Fayette.

Maryville vs. Springfield at Springfield.

Warrensburg vs. Ottawa at Ottawa, Kansas.

Kirksville Osteopaths vs. Rolla Miners at Rolla.

M. M. A. of Mexico vs. Jefferson City high at Jefferson City.

Saturday

Kansas City, Oct. 20.—The teams of the Missouri College Union have had no luck this season in their games with elevens of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association, the senior circuit of the state. The M. I. A. A. crews have scored a victory in every set-to that has been staged so far this year and most all of them by top-heavy scores. Kirksville owns victories over Westminster and Culver-Stockton, Warrensburg has trimmed Drury, Central and Missouri Wesleyan and Maryville has taken Missouri Wesleyan into camp.

Probably the best showings were the games that Westminster and Central staged against their M. I. A. A. opponents. Westminster particularly was a hard nut for Kirksville to crack and on form should have won the contest but lacked the fight that characterized the Blue Jays in their other battles. On the scores of the games between the two organizations it is evident that the M. I. A. A. has it on the M. C. A. U. and that the college teams will have to perk up if they expect to prevent the Teachers colleges from making a clean sweep of the schedule this season.

It is certain that the M. I. A. A. gridders have met all of the best prospects in the other loop for it is claimed that Westminster, Central and Missouri Valley are destined to fight it out for the toga in the junior circuit. None of the defeats handed the M. C. A. U. chorts at the hands of the teams of the M. I. A. A. will hurt their conference standing but it is to be imagined that the coaches of the latter organization are secretly pleased at what they have accomplished so far this year.

Maybe later some M. C. A. U. entry will bob up that can take the measure of an eleven of the other group but so far this has not been done. Even though the Teachers have triumphed, the games have been interesting and clean and cordial relations exist between the two gridiron associations. Probably more games have been carded by these two loops this fall than ever before and the results indicate a resumption of dates next season.

BEARCATS ARE GETTING READY

MEET SPRINGFIELD THERE FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

TO LEAVE TOMORROW

Captain Eads Will Probably Be out Of Lineup On Account Of An Injured Shoulder.

Coach H. Frank Lawrence and Coach Paul Jones with their State Teachers College Bearcats will leave Maryville on the afternoon Burlington train tomorrow for Springfield, where the State Teachers College Bearcats of that city will be met Friday afternoon. This game, which is the second Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association tilt of the season for each team, will start at 3:30 o'clock.

The Bearcats will go to Springfield crippled in one respect. Captain Dave Eads, stellar halfback, will ride the sideline at the game. In the tilt with Cape Girardeau last week, he received an injured shoulder, and his doctor says it will be impossible for him to take part in the Springfield game.

Springfield, too, will be crippled in that Herbert Austin, star fullback, is out of the game for the rest of the season with a crippled leg, fractured in the game with McKendree College last week.

From the Maryville angle, this game with Springfield is one of the critical points in the season. A victory would mean that the Bearcats would stand an excellent chance of standing high in the conference race at the end of the season. A defeat would mean that the chances would all be in favor of the Bears.

Two teams in the M. I. A. A. are yet to be seen in conference games. Warrensburg and Kirksville have both been going through a conditioning period of games with non-conference teams. Kirksville swings into action this week, however, when the Bulldogs meet the Cape Indians at Cape Girardeau.

Warrensburg does not open her conference season until October 29, when the Mules meet the Bears at Springfield.

Coach Lawrence has not yet decided how many men he will take to Springfield, nor who the lucky individuals will be. This week he has been busy working with his squad, which played so erratically last week against the Cape.

The game last week did the team a great amount of good, if the opinion of the players is worth anything. "We realized just how rotten we could be," one of them said. "Now we know that we must play football 15 minutes in every quarter to win conference games."

The game Friday will be the seventh time that the Bearcts and Bears have met on the gridiron. In the six previous games, the Bears have won four, tied one, and lost one. The scores will show, however, that since 1922 the Bearcats have been on the up-hill grade and the Bears have not lived up to past performances. The game with the Springfield team won prior to 1923 were games played in the year when football at Maryville was in the kindergarten stage, and when the game at Springfield was of college rank.

1916—Bears, 46; Maryville, 0.
1917—Bears, 56; Maryville, 0.
1922—Bears, 33; Maryville, 6.
1923—Bears, 14; Maryville, 7.
1924—Bears, 0; Maryville, 3.
1925—Bears, 3; Maryville, 3.

NO. 4 STAYS, SAYS GENTRY

ATTORNEY-GENERAL WILL NOT KEEP PROPOSAL OFF BALLOT.

MORE SPEECHES HERE

Somerville Announces Other Meetings At Which Speakers Will Urge Adverse Vote.

Jefferson City, Oct. 20.—Proposition No. 4, which proposes the repeal of the state prohibition law, will remain on the ballot at the election November 2, Attorney-General North T. Gentry announced today. He said he would take no action to keep it off the ballot.

"If the people want to vote on Proposition No. 4, they can," said Gentry. "I do not propose to file suit to keep it off."

The attorney-general, in an unsolicited opinion to Secretary of State Charles U. Becker last Saturday, held the proposal could not be legally submitted to the voters under either the referendum or initiative law. However, the secretary of state had already certified the proposal to the various counties, along with two initiative proposals and one referendum, and said he had no authority to recall them.

More speaking dates in opposition to Proposal No. 4, to repeal the Missouri prohibition enforcement act, were announced today by Leslie G. Somerville, vice-president of the county-wide organization formed to combat the proposal.

Mr. Somerville, who is chairman of a speakers committee which is supplying orators wherever they are requested, estimated that there would be twenty-five or thirty meetings between now and November 2.

Two meetings were held last night at rural schools. The Rev. J. Howard Thompson of Burlington Junction was a speaker at a community gathering at the Pleasant Valley school, and the schoolhouse was reported to have been crowded to capacity. At the Myrtle Tree school, near Maryville, Attorney Charles McCaffrey was a speaker, and here also the audience filled the schoolhouse.

Mrs. Roland Wray of Maryville will speak tomorrow at Ravenwood at a meeting of the Ravenwood Parent-Teacher Association. The Reverend Mr. Thompson will speak Friday night at Quitman. As announced yesterday, Miss Fannie Hope will speak tomorrow night at Labelle school and Judge John M. Dawson will speak Friday night at Barnard.

In addition to the sermons which pastors have been asked to preach from their own pulpits, the churches of at least two of the county towns will have union services Sunday night. At Burlington Junction the pastors of the Christian and Methodist Churches will preach against Proposal No. 4 at the morning hour Sunday, and the Rev. A. L. Ragsdale, pastor of the Christian church, will conduct the union meeting at night. The Reverend Mr. Thompson, pastor of the Methodist Church, will go to Graham to conduct a Sunday night union service there.

The Rev. W. N. Dewar, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here, will speak at Bethany Church, southwest Maryville, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Judge Dawson will speak at the Arkoe church at 11 a. m., Sunday, following Sunday School. As announced yesterday, G. B. Roseberry will speak at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the Brethren church, near Sheridan, and D. A. Caldwell will speak at the same hour at the Maple Grove church, near Hopkins.

With the additional dates announced by Mr. Somerville today, the schedule for next week follows:

October 26—Salem Church, ten miles south of Maryville, on the pavement, the Rev. R. A. Mitchell, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, Maryville.

October 26—Guilford, the Reverend Mr. Dewar.

Rev. Cooper Here.

The Rev. Joseph A. Cooper, former pastor of the Baptist Church here, and now pastor of the church at Sioux Falls, S. D., officiated at the funeral of Billy Lamkin, son of President and Mrs. Uel W. Lamkin, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Cooper arrived in Maryville yesterday and will spend a few days here with friends.

FOR CONGRESS

"Charlie" Faust is now rounding out his sixth year as Congressman, and he is the same friendly, likeable fellow you first sent to Washington in 1920. The only difference is that he has grown with experience into the ablest and best known Representative this District has had since the days of Col. James N. Burnes, a generation ago.

Public life has not spoiled "Charlie" Faust. Thousands of citizens can testify to his unfailing attention to duty, and to his promptness and ability in looking after all matters, small as well as large.

We feel that Congressman Faust, by his faithful service and splendid record, has fairly earned the approval of Fourth District voters.

If you use the same thoughtful care and common sense in selecting a Congressman that you would use in hiring a man in your private business, we are confident that you will vote for Charles L. Faust November 2.

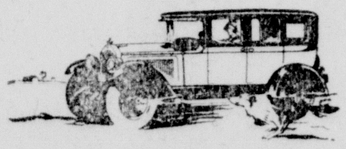
The greatest virtue any car can offer

"Its engine improves with use"



ELIMINATE engine-vibration—minimize friction—do away with carbon troubles and valve grinding—and you accomplish these two important things . . .

Your up-keep cost is cut in half—and you add scores of thousands of perfectly good miles to the usefulness of your car.

In the poppet-valve-engined car, it is the pounding of cams against push-rods, the contact of push-rods on rocker-arms, the recoil of valves under coiled springs that cause vibration. And, in time, vibration will wreck the finest engine ever built into a poppet-valve car.

In the sleeve-valve-engined Willys-Knight there is no pounding of metal upon metal. No elaborate mechanism of rocker-arms and springs . . . You never have carbon troubles. There are no valves to grind . . .

The Knight engine is simplicity itself. It consists of but two metal sleeves operating with a gliding motion. No vibration. No friction. Simply two single sleeves working smoothly, silently, up and down, one within the other, in a constant film of oil—and that is all!

Willys-Knight Great Six prices from $1750 to $2495. Prices f.o.b. factory and specifications subject to change without notice. The Willys Finance Plan offers unusually attractive credit terms. Willys-Overland, Inc., Toledo, Ohio. Willys-Overland Sales Co., Ltd., Toronto, Canada.
